

Students get drenched at the "tricky fountains" at Peterhof, the 18th-century summer palace of Peter the Great.

FROM MEDIEVAL TO MODERN

Students stay three weeks each in European St. Petersburg, Russia's cultural heart, and in cosmopolitan Moscow, its political and economic center.

Experiential learning: performances, workshops, cultural events, and sight-seeing that bring classroom ideas and concepts to life.

Envisioning rural Russian life at an open air museum that recreates a 17th-century village using restored period architecture.

COURSEWORK

Our Faculty

Dr. Olga Thomason
Senior Lecturer in Russian,
Dept. of Germanic & Slavic Studies
Associate Director, The Russian Flagship Program
at the University of Georgia

Our Program

No prior Russian is needed to join this life-changing experiential and classroom learning adventure in Moscow and St. Petersburg.
Satisfies UGA General Education Core Curriculum Requirements--Area IV and experiential learning.

Students earn 9-11 credit hours

- o RUSS 3550--Contemporary Russian Culture
- o 2 language courses (RUSS 1001/1002 or 2001/2002 or 3001/3002 or 4001/4510).

Costs

Estimate: ~$2,900 includes:
Accommodations, instruction and books, ground transportation, cultural activities, international health insurance, and Russian visa fees.

Additional costs:

Airfare (~$1300-1500), Food (~$200 /wk), personal expenses, UGA tuition ($318/credit hour in 2019), mandatory UGA fees.

Financial Aid: Hope/Zell, Boren Scholarships, GSS Kicklighter Fund student grants.

Application deadline: Jan. 10, 2020
StudyAway.uga.edu